The Negro.

HEWLEIT'S, Jan. 12 -When a boy I heard a discussion between a Boston Divine and a Caroline farmer on the comparative value of slave and free labor. They mutually agreed "that one freeman was worth three slaves." For sixteen years this problem has been in process of solution, and the constusion is being rapidly obtained "that the farther removed the negro is from slavery the less useful he is as a jaborer." This is a natural result of his men-there is an ever active conflict, the physical constitution of the negro is such, that the activation of the negro is such, that the activation in him, gains an easy ascendency. If he have a gluttonous inclination all his powers are bent for the present emergency to satisfy his appetites. If he dri he artified a simplests notti-g but a want of espacity or ability to drink satisfies his thirst. In these matters he to fine Paul's prophecy, except, instead of 'nobing cars,' he has itching firg rs. Living in the ever present, he troubles not himself about the future, nor does he has been a living to the expectation.

Aleganums, Va., Dec. 1, 1881.

OUR RUYER has just returned from a third trip to New York, and we offer a CHRAT MANY SEASONABGE and DESIRABLE GOODS SUITABLE FOR THE HOLIDAYS and general trade.

Large variety as about the future, nor does he barthen his mind with the experie c s of the past. If he works, it is to secure the weges promised, with this season.

New colors in Plushes and Velvets; specially out regard to the character or amount of the labor. A contract is obligatory so long as a better one is not presented. He is perfectly contract to alatha himself with rags and roll in the kich assortment of Silk Handkerchiefs and the laboration of the laboration o Sunday and election day. Controlled by the sound of words rather than their meaning, the most ignorant of their race, who understands how to play on this 'harp of a thousand strings," our exert for more power over them, than the most accomplished, who relies on ideas and principles. The most imitative of all beings, not excepting the mocking bird, he can reproduce the actions, the voice, the expression and often the phrases of others, with great xx-c'ness, without knowing in the least their porter. Don't miss the chance.

and if not closed in a lew days mose remaining used will be returned to the importance. It is often the case that a decl. J. E. TACKETT. word of a peculiar sound imparis to them more moving thoughts than a whole book would to a discriminating mind. He never desponds at the failure of crops, or is clated at their success-te-lay bounds his mental bori

zen, and if he have enough to satisfy his presont wants, no wave of trouble rolls across his peaceful breast. If his mere animal instincts shou'd be aroused neither the fear of the law. the privations of a prison or the horror of the gallons deters him from the satisfaction of his lusts. The spiritual nature is so subordicated to the scimel, that even his religion is made to perform an active part to gratifying his passions. While kept in proper subordination and wholesome fear of immediate punist ment, his natural instincts are restrained, and he is an innecent and quiet citizen. Bu: unrestraia-ed, unbridled, uncurbed and made to feel that he may act in full accord with his unbridled passions, he becomes a most dangerous element of society, and life nor property are safe where be treacs. Bur, after all, when and where he is taught to know his place, and recegniz ) himself as a quisi deperdent and subaltern, be is bis own worst enemy and affords an amusing suti c: for contemplation. Sometimes his imitation and innocent self-importance crops out in adicrous imitations of fashion. A pappyheaded girl, for instance, with scarcely a filliment of wool on her head, half an inch long, will surround, in imitation of the "white ladies," the protuberance of her occiput with a braid two yards long. A stump of a man, the hallow of whose toot would make a hole in the ground, will clothe himself with a pair of pumps, white wool gloves, and a coat, whose tail will sweep his heels, and cover all, in a sucless day, with a specious umbrills. But when he turn his attention to equestrian expibitions he excele. Some time since there were many little mules and horses in our "Forks" which were useles, for work and not sufficiently attractive to be desired for show. Mr. Bowles, taking a fancy for one, made a purchase. Soon he was seen riding back and forth as stately as a lord. Mr. Brooks, not to be outdone, followed suit, and made a purchase of both a borse and buggy; then Parson Johnson, then Mr. Jackson, and in the last four weeks nearly every diminutive horse and mule in the "forks" has been gobbled up by these aspiring gentlemen. The last was a colt, the smallest of its age I over saw, purchased by Mr. Johnson. I met him in a straight stretch in the road a few days ago. and for my life I could not tell, until be approached very near me, whether he was riding or walking. In size, rivalling the dimensions of his horse, his feet nearly swept the ground as he bestrode him in stately dignity, while the poor little creature, reeled and tot-tered in every step, beneath his load. Just as he approached, Mr. J. raised himself to the fullest proportions of his self-conceived dignity, and prepared to salute me with becoming equality. Just as he rolled up his massive optics and gave his head a short, quick nod, the fragile pony stumbled, and turned the dignified nod into a ow bow, whether graceful or not he can better, decide than I, as I dared not look back to learn the sequel.

Thus we go, "A horse," 'a horse," but not ne in ten has food for a horse, and it will be a nice point whether they can make them survive rigors of the winter. But, even in such event, it will only enliven, for another reason, HANGVER, the horse market.

Alexandria Gazette for 1882.

THE ONLY DAILY PAFE ? PUBLISHED IN NORTHERN VIRGINIA-ONE OF THE BEST ADVERTISING ME-

DIUMS IN THE STATE.

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE and VIR-GINIA ADVESTISER, begun in 1799, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia.

Already read by three generations, it proposes to continue its useful life, and now enters upon another (the eighty-third) volume, determined to be the newspaper of the era in Virginia. The Gazette will put forth its utmost endeavor to continue a model newspaper, and its success during this entire century in catering to the wants and meeting the wishes of the people, guarantees that with this paper promise means performance.

With the coming year all the improved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a candid criticism of man and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia. It furnishes the news telegrams of the New

that is thus connected with the great fountains of the world's news. Its contiguity to Washington gives the Gazette an early precedence over all the journals of the State in intelligence of the operations of the General Government. The proceedings of Congress will be regularly reported in succinct form for its columns, but all matters of especial interest in Virginia will be given in detail, and the full text of all tills of local interest will be given.

York Associated Press and of Reuter's Buropean agency, being, with but few exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond

From the State Capital it will receive early and accurate accounts of the proceedings of the General Assembly and of all the operations of the State government likely to interest the

To meet all the demands upon it, the Gazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICE-MOND NEWSPAPER, as well as an ALEX-ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute perfection in these departments.

As the interests of the people mainly centre at home, no pains will be spaced to chronicle all matters occurring in the city and neighborhood, carefully excluding unseemly expressions or gross narrative as unfit for a journal that is treatured at many thousand hearthstones of Virginis.

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Common wealth which nature has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assidulously

The past of the Gazatte is offered as an index of its future. It has never failed to avail itself promptly of all the improvements which come with the greater growth and more extended e perience of journalism.

In the progress of the growth and enterprises of cur city a Telephone Exchange has been established greatly to the benefit of the business community and with which the Gazatte was early connected thereby putting the office in immediate communication with all parts of the city and faciliting the collection of news, &c.

Especial attention will be devoted to present ing, as well from original sources of information as from its exchanges, the news of Virginia.

Concisely and completely it will give the news

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazatte will be filled with the earliest and most exact commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible. The farmers, drovers and commercial people of the State know they may depend upon the Gazette.

Early and reliable reports of the Grain Cattle. Grocery and other Markets will be furnished, and the prices and position of the stocks, which are the subjects of business transactions in this section of the country, carefully quoted.

The continual favors of those who have once used the Gazette as an advertising medium is a warrant for saying that it pays to advertise in its columns which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.
